Re: Threatened and Endangered Species Review for the Township of Upper Deerfield, Cumberland County, New Jersey (your file #2517)

Dear Mr. Krok:

As requested in your July 17, 2005 letter, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service), New Jersey Field Office has reviewed the above-referenced Township for the presence of federally listed endangered and threatened species.

AUTHORITY

This response is pursuant to Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (ESA) (87 Stat. 884, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) to ensure the protection of federally listed endangered and threatened species and does not address all Service concerns for fish and wildlife resources. These comments do not preclude separate review and comments by the Service as afforded by the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act (48 Stat. 401; 16 U.S.C. 661 et seq.), if any permits are required from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers pursuant to the Clean Water Act of 1977 (33 U.S.C. 1344 et seq.), or comments pursuant to the December 22, 1993 Memorandum of Agreement among the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (NJDEP), and the Service, if project implementation requires a permit from the NJDEP pursuant to the New Jersey Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act (N.J.S.A. 13:9B et seq.), nor do they preclude comments on any forthcoming environmental documents pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended (83 Stat. 852; 42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

FEDERALLY LISTED SPECIES

An active nest of the federally listed (threatened) bald eagle (Haliaeetus leucocephalus) is located within the Township of Upper Deerfield. Also, bald eagle foraging habitat designated by the NJDEP's Endangered and Nongame Species Program (ENSP) is found within the Township. Eagles are often attracted to a water body as they search for food. Eagles are opportunistic feeders and will eat live prey or carrion, including fish, small mammals, and waterfowl, and often roost in dead or mature trees adjacent to water. Tree clearing or other disturbances to dead snags or mature timber may also affect eagles roosting or foraging in the area.

For foraging bald eagles, the Service recommends implementation of a 150-foot buffer to be established along forested wetlands and uplands to protect eagles from human disturbance and provide foraging and roosting sites. Should any project activities occur beyond the 150-foot buffer, the Service recommends a seasonal restriction between December 15 and July 31 on project activities to protect habitat for foraging bald eagles. Pursuant to Section 6 of the ESA, the Service has delegated management responsibility for nesting and foraging bald eagles to the ENSP. The ENSP maintains up-to-date information on bald eagle foraging areas. Any requests for a waiver of seasonal restrictions to protect foraging bald eagles should be submitted to the ENSP for approval and copied to the Service. The point of contact is:

Extant populations of the federally listed (threatened) swamp pink (Helonias bullata) are known to occur within the Township of Upper Deerfield. Swamp pink is an obligate wetland species that occurs in a variety of palustrine forested wetlands in New Jersey. Specific hydrologic requirements of swamp pink limit its occurrence within forested wetlands to areas with lateral ground-water movement that are perennially saturated, but not inundated by flood waters. Threats to swamp pink include loss of habitat due to wetland filling, clearing and draining; degradation of habitat due to sedimentation from off-site construction activities; and flooding and erosion due to increased runoff from upstream sites. A description of swamp pink and its habitat is enclosed. The Service has not been provided enough information to determine whether swamp pink surveys by a qualified botanist are warranted.

Except for the bald eagle and swamp pink, no other federally listed or proposed threatened or endangered fauna or flora are known to occur within or in the vicinity of the Township of Upper Deerfield. If additional information on federally listed endangered or threatened species becomes available, this determination may be reconsidered.

Please find enclosed the current information regarding federally listed and candidate species occurring in New Jersey and the addresses of State agencies that may be contacted for current site-specific information regarding federal candidate and State-listed species. Please contact Carlo Popolizio of my staff at (609) 646-9310, extension 32, if you have any questions or require further assistance regarding federally listed threatened or endangered species.

Sincerely,

Swamp pink

Swamp pink (Helonias bullata) was federally listed as a threatened plant species on September 9, 1988, pursuant to the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (87 Stat. 884, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.). New Jersey contains the majority of the remaining populations of the species; however, not all of the potential swamp pink habitats in New Jersey have been surveyed. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) requests that a qualified biologist conduct a comprehensive search for swamp pink in any potentially suitable wetland habitat, as described below, that may be impacted by project activities. The following information is provided to assist in identifying the species and its habitat and to describe recommended survey techniques.

IDENTIFICATION: Swamp pink is characterized by a bright pink flower cluster that blooms in early spring. The stocky, hollow flower stem grows from one to three feet tall and has sparse modified leaves along its length. In April or early May, the stem is topped by a cluster (approximately one to three inches long) of pink flowers dotted with pale blue anthers. However, only 10 to 15 percent of the plants in a population typically flower in any one season. When the plant is not flowering, swamp pink can be identified by its smooth, evergreen, lance-shaped leaves (approximately 3 to 10 inches long), which lie almost flat on the ground in a basal rosette. The leaves are shiny green when young and often attain a purplish tint in mature plants. In New Jersey, the plant is easiest to identify when in bloom or in the winter months when few other herbaceous plants are still green. Population sizes may vary from a few to several thousand plants.

HABITAT: Considered an obligate wetland species, swamp pink occurs in a variety of palustrine forested and scrub/shrub wetlands in New Jersey including: forested wetlands bordering meandering streamlets, headwater wetlands, sphagnum Atlantic white cedar swamps, and spring seepage areas. Specific hydrologic requirements of swamp pink limit its occurrence to wetlands that are perennially saturated, but not inundated by floodwater. The water table must be at or near the surface, fluctuating only slightly during spring and summer months.

Swamp pink is a shade-tolerant plant that occurs in wetlands with varying canopy closure. Plant species associated with swamp pink include: Atlantic white cedar (Chamaecyparis thyoides), red maple (Acer rubrum), pitch pine (Pinus rigida), American larch (Larix laricina), black spruce (Picea mariana), red spruce (Picea rubens), sweet pepperbush (Clethra alnifolia), sweetbay magnolia (Magnolia virginiana), sphagnum mosses (Sphagnum spp.), cinnamon fern (Osmunda cinnamomea), skunk cabbage (Symplocarpus foetidus), and laurels (Kalmia spp.). Swamp pink often grows on hummocks formed by trees, shrubs, and sphagnum mosses, which indicates that these microtopographic conditions may be an important component of swamp pink habitat.

RANGE: Once found inhabiting wetland areas from New York to Georgia, swamp pink now occurs only along the coastal plain from New Jersey to Virginia and in small isolated bog areas in the Southern Appalachian Mountains. Containing more than 70 percent of the known sites, New Jersey represents the global stronghold for swamp pink. Plant colonies are found in Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Ocean, and Salem Counties.

THREATS: Threats to swamp pink include: loss or degradation of habitat due to illegal filling of wetlands; sedimentation from off-site construction activities; introduction of excess nutrients or toxic chemicals (e.g., herbicides) into the water; and, changes in groundwater and surface water hydrology due to excavation, water withdrawal, and increased runoff from upstream development (causing flooding and erosion). Additionally, direct discharge from stormwater outfalls can increase the frequency, duration, and volume of flooding in swamp pink wetlands and adversely affect the species.

SURVEY REQUIREMENTS: Although surveys can be conducted year round, the Service recommends conducting surveys from late fall to early spring when the foliage of other plant species is reduced, making the evergreen foliage of swamp pink easier to detect. Random transect surveys are inappropriate since the species may be present in small wet pockets, which may be overlooked during the random transect method. All available suitable habitat within the project impact area should be surveyed, concentrating on forested wetland areas as previously described, with suitable hydrology. The surveyor should census not only the wetlands on the subject property, but also upstream and downstream wetlands. Please do not collect specimens or send plants or parts of plants to the Service for identification. Report the survey method used, the qualifications of the surveyor, and the results of the survey (including size of area surveyed, hours searched, aerial and/or ground photographs with index map, and wetland delineations) to:

Pleasantville, New Jersey 08232
Telephone: (609) 646-9310

CONSERVATION AND PROTECTION: The Service's Swamp Pink Recovery Plan identifies permanent protection of at least 80 large populations. If you own property containing swamp pink or know of other landowners who would be interested in permanently protecting this species, please notify the Service for additional information and assistance.

Re: Upper Deerfield Township NRI / ASGECI Project #2517

Dear Mr. Krok:

Thank you for your data request regarding rare species information for the above referenced project site in Upper Deerfield Township, Cumberland County.

Searches of the Natural Heritage Database and the Landscape Project (Version 2) are based on a representation of the boundaries of your project site in our Geographic Information System (GIS). We make every effort to accurately transfer your project bounds from the topographic map(s) submitted with the Request for Data into our Geographic Information System. We do not typically verify that your project bounds are accurate, or check them against other sources.

We have checked the Natural Heritage Database and the Landscape Project habitat mapping for occurrences of any rare wildlife species or wildlife habitat on the referenced site. Please see Table 1 for species list and conservation status.

Table 1 (on referenced site).

We have also checked the Natural Heritage Database and the Landscape Project habitat mapping for occurrences of any rare wildlife species or wildlife habitat within one half mile of the referenced site. Please see Table 2 for species list and conservation status. This table excludes any species listed in Table 1.

Table 2 (additional species within one half mile of referenced site).

We have also checked the Natural Heritage Database for occurrences of rare plant species or natural communities. The Natural Heritage Data Base has twelve records for occurrences of rare species that may be on or in the immediate vicinity of the site. The attached lists provide more information about these occurrences. Because some species are sensitive to disturbance or sought by collectors, this information is provided to you on the condition that no specific locational data are released to the general public. This is not intended to preclude your submission of this information to regulatory agencies from which you are seeking permits.

The Natural Heritage Database has records for occurrences of rare plant species and natural communities that may be present on the Elmer, Alloway, Bridgeton and Shiloh USGS quadrangles. The attached lists provide additional information about these occurrences. Also attached is a list of rare species and natural communities that have been documented from Cumberland County. If suitable habitat is present at the project site, these species have potential to be present.

Status and rank codes used in the tables and lists are defined in the attached EXPLANATION OF CODES USED IN NATURAL HERITAGE REPORTS.

The Natural Heritage Program reviews its data periodically to identify priority sites for natural diversity in the State. Included as priority sites are some of the State's best habitats for rare and endangered species and natural communities. Two of these sites are located within or near the areas you have outlined. Please refer to the enclosed Natural Heritage Priority Site Maps for the locations and boundaries of these sites. On the back of each Priority Site Map is a report describing the significance of the site. You may find the site biodiversity significance rating to be useful if you need to prioritize among the sites in your environmental assessment.

In order to red flag the general locations of occurrences of rare and endangered plant species and natural communities, we have prepared computer generated Natural Heritage Index Maps. Enclosed please find these maps for the Elmer, Alloway, Bridgeton and Shiloh USGS quadrangles. If individual projects are to be located in the areas of these maps that contain letter codes, the Natural Heritage Program can be contacted for additional information.

If you have questions concerning the wildlife records or wildlife species mentioned in this response, we recommend that you visit the interactive I-Map-NJ website at the following URL, <http://www.state.nj.us/dep/gis/depsplash.htm> or contact the Division of Fish and Wildlife, Endangered and Nongame Species Program.

PLEASE SEE THE ATTACHED 'CAUTIONS AND RESTRICTIONS ON NHP DATA'.

Thank you for consulting the Natural Heritage Program. The attached invoice details the payment due for processing this data request. Feel free to contact us again regarding any future data requests.

Sincerely,

Herbert A. Lord
